How to Visit Las Vegas Before You move to the City

Before you decide you want to move to Las Vegas, it's a good idea to visit the city. Whether you plan to transfer with your employment or you're looking for a change of scenery, visiting Las Vegas will give you a better feel for the area. Here are some of the things you should consider when visiting the city if you plan to move here.

Stay for at least a week

Visiting a city you plan to move to will help you get to know the area. However, if you only come for a few days, you won't have much of an opportunity to really get to know the city. If possible, book an extended stay in Las Vegas and stay for a week or two. This will give you enough time to see the different neighborhoods and get an idea of how it might feel to live in within the city.

Don't vacation like a tourist

It's very easy to get swept up in the tourist attractions, but many locals avoid these attractions. Instead of spending your time acting like you are on vacation, spend your time getting to know the residential area and the local attractions you may frequent if you lived in Las Vegas.

Visit multiple communities

Finding the right neighborhood is one of the most important parts of moving. Las Vegas is home to a number of different neighborhoods and they all have their own unique feel. You should plan to visit at least a few different neighborhoods when you visit the city.

Treat at least one day like a normal day

Pick a day or two on your trip and treat them like normal days. If you would normally work from 9 to 5, head out to a coffee shop and catch up on some organization or actually do some work. If you would usually take the kids to a local pool at night, find a local pool and get a feel for how that would be. Try to make the day as normal as it would be if you were living within the city. This will give you a bit of a feel of how it would be like if you were in Las Vegas every day.

Only spend a few days on The Strip

Las Vegas can be very alluring and The Strip is very hard to avoid. However, you should limit your time on The Strip. Maybe the last two days of your trip, you can unwind and hit The Strip. You can also reserve it for the weekends if you'd normally enjoy time out on the weekends.

If you plan to move to Las Vegas, you should consider visiting the city first. Make sure you stay for a week or longer and do your best to avoid the things a tourist would do. Instead, try to act like you are a local as much as possible.

Enjoy More than Just Casinos in Las Vegas

When traveling to Vegas, many tourists want to spend time in the casinos. However, gambling can get very expensive, very fast. Many travelers limit their Las Vegas trip to only a few days due to the cost of gambling. However, you can extend your vacation and enjoy other attractions.

Las Vegas is full of things to do other than gambling. There are plenty of museums, golf courses, parks and so much more for tourists to enjoy. Here are some of the things you can enjoy when you decide to extend your stay and use one of the Las Vegas weekly rentals for a longer vacation.

The Grand Canyon

Of course, one of the top attractions near Las Vegas is the Grand Canyon. You can take a helicopter tour, a horseback tour or just visit the canyon by car. There are many ways to enjoy a fun trip to the Grand Canyon and see this incredible site.

Discover the Food Scene

Eating in Las Vegas is one of the most enjoyable activities you will find. There are plenty of great restaurants found on The Strip. Some of the best spots you may not discover without the help of a local guide include:

- Sushi Mon
- Lotus of Saim
- Raku
- Firefly
- And Many More!

Play Golf

With so many great golf courses, Las Vegas is a hot spot for golfers to enjoy. Shadow Creek is one of the top local courses to enjoy, along with many others. You can ditch the casinos, get some fresh air and enjoy a great round of golf all throughout the Vegas area.

Take in Fremont Street

One of the coolest parts of going to Las Vegas is visiting Fremont Street. This area is like stepping into the atmosphere of Mardi Gras. It's a place for entertainment, cheap drinks and plenty of people watching. You can also enjoy the casinos here, but there are plenty of other great things to do on Fremont Street, as well.

Head to Lake Mead

If you prefer something outdoor and on the water, Lake Mead is a great place. This lake provides plenty of fun with swimming, boating, fishing and all types of activities to enjoy.

There are plenty of things to do in Las Vegas other than hitting the casinos. If you want to enjoy a week's vacation in Las Vegas, book a weekly rental and take in some of the sights found outside the casino floor.

San Francisco to Napa Valley Group Tours (daily per person)

After you book your group tour from San Francisco to Napa Valley, you will be able to look forward to tastings and tours at 4 to 5 different wineries in the Napa Valley area. Along with the winery tours, each group tour includes a picnic lunch in the afternoon and plenty of other attractions along the way.

You can schedule your pickup from your San Francisco hotel or from any other designated area. This tour will start at 8:15am and will run until approximately 5pm.
